

Utilizing your practice website for secure patient and practice online communications is becoming extremely popular nationwide. Web-based patient self-service capabilities can improve staff efficiency, increase revenue, and greatly improving patient satisfaction!

Imagine, having your patients save you time by entering their own demographic data and completing other common tasks, while thanking you for the convenience!

Medfusion is the nation's leading provider of secure, HIPAA-compliant patient/provider communication portals and medical specific website development. In fact, the MGMA has exclusively endorsed Medfusion as its partner for this purpose.
